United Negro College Fund Will Conduct Radiothon

TACOMA PUBLIC LIBRARY
1102 Tacoma AVE. SO.
TACOMA, WA. 98402

On the left is Andrew Bolton, an alumnus of Fisk University, Nashville, Tenn. - First running back drafted by Seattle Seahawks Professional Football Team. Bolton has pledged his support of UNCF Washington Campaign. At center is Oscar Johnson, an alumnus of Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga. - General Chairman of UNCF Washington Campaign, 1975-76. Chairman Johnson is Asst. Regional Director for the Washington State Department of Revenue. On the right is Slick Watts, Alumnus of Xavier University, New Orleans, La. - Joined Seattle Supersonics Professional Basketball Team, 1973. "Slick, a hard campaigner, supports UNCF.

"A first ever for the United Negro College Fund on the west coast." So states Oscar D. Johnson, UNCF General Campaign Chairman for the state of Washington, in announcing a KYAC Radiothon for 12:00 until 9:00 p.m., Sunday, December 12, 1976. Radiothons in eastern and southern cities have raised five figure amounts for UNCF and Johnson is optimistic that the Seattle efforts on December 12 will give a significant boost to the 1976 Washington campaign.

Veltry Johnson, Station Manager at KYAC has been directing the planning for the radiothon. Slick Watts, Bruce Seals and Willie Norwood of the SuperSonics are all involved in planning and promoting of the program. Dr. Hugh Gloster, President of Morehouse College in Atlanta, Georgia will be interviewed by telephone during the Radiothon.

Donors will be able to make pledges to the United Negro College Fund via telephone during the radiothon. The location where checks and cash gifts will be received will be announced at a later date.

The United Negro College Fund raises operating money to help 41 historically black colleges and universities. The 50,000 students being educated at these UNCF schools can help provide the solutions to many of the problems that are plaguing our communities and nation. The majority of black leaders and professional persons prominent in today's world got their starts at UNCF schools. The UNCF is best recognized by its slogan, "A mind is a terrible thing to waste."

The National and Washington state goals for the 1976 campaign are $15 million and $100 thousand, respectively. Both nationally and locally returns at the end of November are running ahead of 1975's record setting pace. Chairman Johnson cautions that the final success of the 1976 Washington campaign hinges on the renewal of several large gifts - traditionally received in December, and upon the response to the Radiothon.

Have Time? Volunteer!

The Cross-Age Tutoring Program (CATP), sponsored by the Tacoma Urban League, Inc. and operating in six Tacoma Public Schools, is currently seeking volunteer workers. These volunteers will join the Supportive Services component of CATP while working with students, counselors, teachers, parents, and community resources.

Currently, Hugh Wells, Supportive Services Coordinator, with the aid of two volunteers, is striving to alleviate the external problems of students enrolled in CATP classrooms. The range of these identifiable problems includes family strife, chronic absenteeism and tardies, school drop-out deterrent, as well as physical defects, i.e. hearing and sight, etc. With Supportive Services helping to alleviate the external situations that affect learning potential, students will be able to concentrate on improving their reading skills and academic achievement.

To effectively meet the needs of 144 CATP students, the Supportive Services Component needs additional volunteers. Anyone desiring to gain community services experience in a challenging and satisfying pursuit should contact Hugh Wells at 383-3007.

County Slates Public Auction

Approximately 70 parcels of property, including some only five feet wide and others as large as a few acres, are scheduled to be sold by the Pierce County Treasurer's office at public auction at 9 a.m. Friday, December 10th.

Properties for sale are those on which 1971 property taxes have not been paid and so have been foreclosed upon as required by state law, said Maurice Raymond, county treasurer.

Bidders should gather in the first floor lobby of the County-City Building where sales will be made to the "highest and best bidders for cash". The minimum bid amount must be paid in currency or by certified check.

Successful bidders will be issued deeds to the properties.

There is still time left for owners to redeem their properties, though, by paying the taxes and interest costs before the day of the sale.

Property descriptions and minimum acceptable bids are available in the treasurer's office during office hours this week in Room 840, County-City Building.

Swine Flu Shots Available For Military Eligibles

Swine flu vaccines will be given to eligible military beneficiaries at North Fort Lewis beginning December 6, Madigan Army Medical Center officials have announced.

With the active duty military immunization program almost completed, dependents, retirees and Department of the Army employees will be given shots at the North Fort Lewis immunization facility in warehouse F3 and F5, the site of the Freedom Train visit.

During a two week period from 6 to 17 December adults 18 years of age and over will be immunized from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturday, December 11. No shots will be given on Sundays.

Persons aged 18 to 65 will be given the swine flu (A/New Jersey) vaccine only. Those over the age of 65 and those with chronic illness (such as renal, pulmonary and cardiac diseases) will be given the swine and A/Victoria vaccine.

Madigan physicians have advised that a short registration consent form must be filled out and a privacy act statement signed before a shot can be given. Persons allergic to eggs should not take the shot.

The recommended approach to the immunization facility is the Dupont exit #119 from I-5 and to follow the signs which are posted.

Information regarding shots for children will be made when the vaccine becomes available. Authorities caution that children with chronic illness should check with their physician to determine the advisability of taking the vaccine.

Special Madigan Team Copes With Death

The prospect of death, especially the death of a child or teenager, is difficult to cope with not only for the patient and family but for the attending physician as well.

For the past year and a half, two Madigan Army Medical Center staff members have been working with such people to help them through the various stages of trauma.

Capt. David Kanofsky, clinical psychologist, and Maj. Lou Popejoy, pediatrician, are co-chairmen of a group at Madigan called the Conference for Children with Life-Threatening Illnesses, an interdisciplinary group of professional support people.

The group, believed to be the only one of its kind at an Army medical center, meets monthly with various health care professionals and volunteers to assist the family, friends, and medical people administering care to a terminally ill patient.

"The conference was born out of a realization any family that has a child with a life-threatening illness is going to have all sorts of problems," Maj. Popejoy said. "There are emotional problems for the parent, problems for other children in the family, and problems for the child himself. The physician often needs someone he can turn to for help in assisting the family deal with the crisis," he added.

Capt. Kanofsky described life-threatening illness in three major categories--blood cancer, heart and lung diseases, and neurological disorders. "Actually," he said, "we are talking about any disease that might threaten the patient's life during childhood or adolescence."

Among the various groups represented at the meetings are inpatient and outpatient pediatrics, the psychology service, social work service, family practice service, community health nurse and volunteers from Army Community Services, and Red Cross. Chaplains and independent volunteers also get involved.

"When a physician diagnoses a case that might threaten a youngster's life he usually contacts the committee," Capt. Kanofsky said. "The group begins to work with the family on a total basis with a social worker or psychologist evaluating the case to determine which of the services will be most beneficial."

Among the general problems facing the family are personal problems caused by the likelihood of death in the family. The mobility factor of a military family also tends to increase the overall problem, Capt. Kanofsky said.

"Military life is one of constant mobility and there is always the chance either the family or the attending physician will be transferred," Capt. Kanofsky said. "If the physician is transferred, it helps to have someone available who is familiar with the case and can provide some continuity."

In addition to guest lecturers from both the military and civilian professional community, the conference often calls in other families that have gone through the same experience. "This gives families a chance to share their experiences with someone who has already been there," Maj. Popejoy said.

"We are now trying to establish a family group to enable parents of children with life-threatening illnesses to get together. We want these families to know that they are not facing their crises alone."

He added that the nature and purpose of the conference was not to identify the family as one with emotional problems but rather to provide a preventative mental health approach to providing support for the families.

The work of the conference does not end with the death of the child should death actually occur. "The members of the conference for life-threatening illness have been working with these families long enough for a bond of friendship to form and this bond often continues after the death of the patient," Maj. Popejoy said.

"Working with these families also forces us to realize that none of us are going to live forever, Capt. Kanofsky said. "Only if we come to grips with our own finality can we begin to provide effective support to children and their families."

Notice

Women of the John Andrew Gregg Altar Guild of Allen A.M.E. Church will present their annual pre-Christmas Smorgasbord and Bazaar from 11:30 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. and 4:00 - 5:30 p.m. on Friday.

The public is invited and tickets may be obtained at the door or from a guild member.

Homemade delicacies and a variety of handmade goods and gift items will be featured. Proceeds will be used to further the Christian work of the guild.

BLACKS, JEWS AND JIMMY CARTER'S ELECTION

A study of ethnic voting patterns in the recent Presidential election shows that Blacks and Jews combined their support to provide President-elect Jimmy Carter his edge at the polls.

According to the Center for Joint Political Studies, a Washington-based organization that follows Black voting patterns, 93 percent of the nation's Black voters went to Carter. NBC News reported that 74 percent of the Jewish vote went to Gov. Carter. In New York State -- whose 41 Electoral College votes were crucial to the Carter victory -- four out of five Jewish voters joined Black citizens in putting Carter over the top.

The 1976 Presidential vote appears to signal a return to the long tradition of common struggle by Blacks and Jews for civil rights and progressive government. It also serves to strengthen the belief that the new Carter administration will significantly include representatives of racial and religious minority groups in government positions.

The President-elect has already indicated an attitude toward our country's urban problems (including Black joblessness, indecent housing and other social ills) that is considerably more sympathetic than Gerald Ford's. The commitment of Blacks and Jews to bringing about a change in government policy on these issues contributed importantly to the Carter victory.

No politician can afford to ignore the source of his support, and while no strings are attached to deeply felt beliefs and confidence, the new Carter regime will doubtless reflect the joint contribution made by Blacks and Jews.

That is a result that would be eagerly anticipated by those who played such a crucial part in the Carter victory. It is not only a conclusion but also a new beginning, one that would mark the renewal of that great Black-Jewish coalition of concern that helped the last Democratic President -- Lyndon Johnson -- enact the great civil rights legislation of a dozen years ago...and that helped make the 1976 Democratic victory possible through the Voting Rights Act.

If the "re-born" Jimmy Carter can give new life to that coalition, it will surely be not the least of the achievements that so many Black and Jewish voters are looking forward to beginning next January 20th. RIGHT ON!

Holiday Precautions Necessary For Safety

Shoppers were warned today about certain hazards which increase with the approaching Christmas shopping season. According to the Crime Prevention Unit of the Tacoma Police Department, shoppers who carelessly place packages inside of the passenger compartment of a parked car and return to the store for additional purchases, may be asking for trouble.

Frequently, car prowlers watch large parking lots for shoppers who place their packages inside of the passenger compartment, lock the vehicle and return for additional gifts. While the shopper is busy inside of the shopping center or store, the car prowler forces his way into the car, takes the newly-purchased gifts and leaves the area before the shopper leaves the store to return to the car.

Shoppers should place packages inside of the trunk or at least place them in such a manner as to keep them out of easy view. This applies even after the shopper leaves the parking lot and returns home. Police said many cars are broken into in front of the owner's home and the gifts quickly removed before the crime is discovered. The trunk of the car is far safer for storage on a temporary basis, but nothing of major value should be left even in the trunk for a prolonged period of time.

Purse snatchers also increase during the holiday shopping season and women are advised to carry the type of purse which can either be placed over the shoulder using a long strap or carried securely in the hand. A purse dangling at the end of a strap carried in the hand is an excellent target for even the most amateur of purse snatchers.

Shoppers who must shop during hours of darkness are urged to park near parking lot lights so that their path to and from the store may be illuminated to discourage assaults from taking place. While such assaults are rare, they do occur and common sense and a little preplanning can help discourage these from taking place.

If you shop during the evenings, go with another friend as this procedure will not only aid you in carrying packages, but also provide a greater degree of safety since mowt criminals will not attempt to assault a group of people.

Once the packages are home, the Crime Prevention Unit also reminds residents not to place them under the tree in plain view from anyone standing outside of the home looking in through a window. While the burglar may not enter while you're home, it is almost certain he will steal once you have gone and the presents are left unguarded. If the temptation is sufficient by a large display of presents under the tree, the would-be burglar may, in all reality, become a full-gledged burglar at your invitation.

Gary Junior High Celebrates 50th Anniversary

Former Gray Junior High School students will be honored Thursday evening, Dec. 16, when the south Tacoma school celebrates the 50th anniversary of its dedication.

The building's doors will open to guests at 7 p.m. A short program will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium.

Tacoma Mayor Gordon Johnston, a Gray alumnus, will bring greetings followed by remarks from Del Cross, deputy school superintendent and Norman Anderson, vice president of the school board.

A highlight of the program will be band, orchestra and choral selections by the school's music department. Open house and refreshments will follow. Staff members and selected student hosts and hostesses will be available to answer questions about the school.

Other well-known Gray alumni include: Lt. Patrick Olson, Tacoma Police Department; Dorothy Pace, community volunteer; Eugene Tone, James Robertson and Harold Snodgrass from Tacoma Schools' administration.

Gray Junior High was one of six Tacoma junior highs constructed in the 1920s. It was dedicated Dec. 16, 1926 and named for Captain Robert Gray, a famous explorer who discovered the Columbia and Chehalis rivers.

In the fifty years since it opened with 19 teachers under the direction of C.A. Payne, principal, the school has grown to 709 students and 34 teachers headed by Principal Charles D'Hondt under its recently expended roof. Last year, a new gym/shop complex, located east of the main building, was dedicated.

Lemmie Brown Mourned

Sgt. (Ret) Lemmie Brown, 53, of 2538 South M Street departed this life early Wednesday morning, November 24, 1976 at St. Joseph's Hospital in Tacoma, Washington.

He was born March 28, 1923 in Mer-Rouge, Louisiana to William and Henrietta (Bennett) Brown, both of whom precede him in death. He was baptised into the Baptist faith at an early age and was raised there.

At the age of 20 he joined the U.S. Army at Fort Sill, Oklahoma and served honorably until he retired at Fort Lewis, Washington, March 1, 1963.

He was united in holy matrimony in St. Louis, Missouri to the former Freddie Lee Smith. This union was blessed with five daughters, Misses Lemmell F., Lenette F. Leedia F., Lendell F. and Leorna F. Brown, all of the home.

He moved to Tacoma in 1958 and became the assistant manager at Art Randle Motors. In addition he had been employed as a paper-maker for St. Regis Paper Company for many years. He was a neat dresser and loved entertaining his friends in his home. He loved the finer things of life and his new Lincoln Continental with his name "LEMMIE" on the license plates was his trade mark. His kind spirit earned him an unusually large amount of friends.

Besides his wife and daughters, he brightened the lives of many others including five sisters, Mesdames James (Oleris) Snulligan, James (Lula-Bell) Williams, and Ms. Mildred McLin all of St. Louis, Mrs. Samuel (Eloise) Smith of Bastrop, Louisiana, and Mrs. Bennie (Doris) Walker of Chicago, ten brothers, Mr. Roy (Bette) Brown of Pacomia, California; Mr. Willie Brown of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, Mr. Theortis Brown of Boston, Massachusetts, Messrs. Eugene (Catherine) and Theodore (Shirley) Brown, both of Bastrop, Messrs. Mentris and Willie-George Brown both of Los Angeles, California, Messrs. W.C. (Essie) and Elmo (Rena) Brown, both of Oakland, California, and Mr. Chester Brown of St. Louis, and a host of other relatives and friends.

Services were held at 2 p.m., Monday, November 29, 1976 at the Main Post Chapel, Fort Lewis, Washington, Chaplain R. Cox officiating and were directed by the staff of the House of Scott Mortuary. Final resting place is Tacoma Cemetery, Tacoma, Washington.

Gift Time !76- Luxe Ideas That Wont Won't Break The Bank

IS SHE A BORN ROMANTIC? This poppy red jumpsuit, with all the ease and elegance of a dress, will fit her mood. Elasticized neckline can be worn on or off the shoulder; the ombre-striped sash can double as a turban. The jumpsuit, in supple jersey, also comes in black, $30. Representative of the holiday dresses now at selected Sears, Roebuck and Co. stores. Jewelry from Sears.

Fashion's been blessed by a return to elegance that's been showing up everywhere -- from the showrooms and streets of Paris and New York to right here at home. The good news is that all this luxe doesn't have to cost a bundle to make it happen to you. Or to the distaff side of your gift list.

Looking especially elegant now that we're on the edge of the holiday season are lush velvets and velveteens, satins, silks and crepe de chine (the real things or pretty pretenders) and touches of gleam and glitter, particularly in accessories.

Sears, for example, sees the velveteen blazer as a way of life now--put together with "silky" bow-tied blouses and shirts, teamed with vests, boleros, skirts and trousers; aglow in deep rich colors.

Other suggestions from Sears for opulent gifting include the magnificent shawl, be it hand crocheted or hand painted, to toss over the sholders, wrap about a waist or, if it's small scale, to twist 'round the head. A supple jersey jumpsuit that's as flowy as an evening dress is still another idea.

There's lots of glitter and gleam in metal belts and "gold" and "silver" evening bags with thin chain handles. When it comes to shimmery jewelry, the wide cuff bracelet is a good gift bet.

Posh purse accessories are another suggestion, nice when they're in rich leathers and cowhides. Wallets, French purses, key cases and the like make welcome stocking stuffers.

Luxe for her private moments: velvety or fleecy robes in colors that belong by a fireside--like burnt orange or jade green. And nightwear that has a kind of couture quality to it--filmy gowns and go-with peignoirs.

Other items that make the elegant life work: hairstyling gadgets in a wondrous variety; lighted makeup mirrors; frankly feminine accessories for the dressing table; fragrances from some of the world's most renowned beauty emporiums packaged in pretty new ways.

Opulence '76. Gather it, give it. And you needn't spend a pretty penny while you're at it.

Black Elected Officials Convene in Denver

DENVER -- More than 800 members of the National Black Caucus of Local Elected Officials (NBC/LEO) were entertained at a cocktail reception by Safeway Stores Inc. at the Regency Hotel.

The National Black Caucus of Local Elected Officials is composed of individuals from both the National League of Cities and the United States Conference of Mayors. Since its inception six years ago, the fundamental goal of the Caucus has been to promote public awareness of the problems and achievements of the urban Black American.

Workshop sessions in governmental management, planning, administration and finance were conducted by the Joint Center for Political Studies.

The highlight of the convention was the first annual Liberty Award banquet, where more than 800 elected officials and their guests witnessed the acceptance of the award by Roy Wilkins, retiring executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

One of the most significant occurrences at the banquet was a telephone address by President-elect Carter. He told the delegates that insofar as unemployment, education, housing, etc. are concerned, Black Americans "will be direct beneficiaries of our concern and our action."

Ben Hooks, recently elected executive director of the N.A.A.C.P., electrified the audience with an eliquent keynote address in which he challenged the Black elected officials to re-evaluate their duties in order to better serve their constituencies. Superstars Gladys Knight and the Pips rocked the auditorium for an hour and a half.

To close out the evening's festivities, Atlanta Mayor Maynard Jackson, President of NBC/LEO, thanked the many unions, corporations and other organizations for their gracious support.

Mann's Bits and Pieces

FOOTBALL....The Juice from Buffalo continues to make his presence known. He ran for 203 yards last Sunday in Miami. On his third carry of the day O.J. shot off tackle for a 75 yard touchdown. The Bills stayed in the game for the first half, leading at that stage 17-13, but finally going down 45-27 on the heroics of wide receiver Freddie Solomon who scored on plays of 79, 59 and 53 yards.

It was a losing season on the field, but the owner can be happy when informed that the Seahawks customers spent $8 million backing the football team during its maiden season.

Coach John Madden, commenting on his team's upcoming Monday night game with Cincinnati: "When this season started we had four goals. The first was to win the division; the second was to finish with the best record in the league and therefore win the home field in the playoffs; the third was to reach the Super Bowl and the fourth was to win the championship." The Raiders are 11-1 on the season going into tonight's game.

BASKETBALL....Earl Monroe of the New York Knicks said it right after he led the Knicks over the Sonics in New York: "The Sonics will have to be very careful and not fall back into the same bad habits that resulted in their long losing streak. I have seen it happen often -- when a team finally breaks a long losing streak by winning a game they can just as easily fall back into old habits and start another losing skein".

Where there's smoke there's usually fire, as some fans may find out very soon. Talk back east is still about the rumored trade concerning two hundred thousand dollars and Tommy Burleson for Buffalo's center Bob McAdoo.

Over at Huskyville the basketball picture is very gloomy. Coach Marv Harshman's squad is still seeking their first victory of the season. The Huskies are 0-3 on the season and they have 2 more games left this week on the road before returning to the friendly confines of Hec Edmundson Pavilion.

TENNIS....They call him a tennis machine and rightly so, especially after Jimmy Connors survived a sputtering start to come on strong and defeat Vitas Gerulaitis in Las Vegas. Conners won $50,000 in the winner take-all match and qualified for a $100,000 winner take-all match in April against the winner of a similar four-man series to be played December 16-19 in Las Vegas.

BASEBALL....Jim Wynn who is 34 years old stated that he is not sure whether he'll be wearing an Atlanta Braves uniform next season, but he says he would like to play with that club again. "I know the Braves are looking toward youth. I know I can still be a regular somewhere. If they want me back I want to be in the starting lineup. If they don't think I can fill that bill then it will be best if I move on."

The reason that Hank Aaron is so delighted with the front office job he has taken with the Atlanta Braves is that he knows he is being given an opportunity to make front line decisions. Hank had always insisted he wanted a job where he could get over his ideas on baseball to young players.

Give gold.
Do you think the gift of golden Galliano is too sentimental? Perhaps it is. The taste of Galliano is decidedly romantic, with overtones of baroque Old World richness. According to the Italian legend,
Galliano is distilled from the rays of the sun, so perhaps it would help to describe the taste as, simply, golden. But the tall bottle of golden Galliano makes a splendid gift. It isn't the thought that's sentimental. It's the gift of gold behind it.

POETRY

I'LL NEVER STOP SEARCHING

When fresh green leaves fall from the trees
I'll still be in need
Hoping to find life's true delights
Just to make things right

For I shall never stop searching within
Someday I know I'll win
'Cause all goodness in me will come out
That's what it's all about.

Oh yes, that true me dwelling deep inside
I really shouldn't let it hide
For it is the very thing I'm searching for
I have a key but no door.

Yes, people, I want to do right but how?
This I cry out loud:
If any man can, let him show me which road to take
For we all have this same decision to make.

City of Tacoma

NOTICE

OF PUBLIC HEARING ON
FEDERAL TRANSIT GRANT TO PURCHASE BUSES & OTHER EQUIPMENT

Notice is hereby given that a public hearing will be held by the City of Tacoma at the City Council meeting in the County-City Building at 5:00 p.m. on January 4, 1977 for the purpose of considering a project for which financial assistance is being sought from the Urban Mass Transportation Administration, pursuant to the Urban Mass Transportation Act of 1964, as amended, generally described as follows:

A. Description of Project

I. 1. Purchase of thirty-three 42 to 45 passenger diesel transit buses to replace twenty-five old 1947 and 1948 gasoline buses, two 1962 diesel buses, and six 1964 diesel buses.
2. Purchase of two buses equipped for the handicapped. (This item may be amended depending on decisions made after the current technical study of the transportation needs of the elderly and the handicapped has been completed.)
3. Purchase of 31 radios for buses.
4. Purchase of 86 new fare boxes to replace old fare boxes.
5. Purchase of bus washing system with soap and partial water reclaimer to replace old bus washer.
6. Purchase of sander for mounting on pickup truck.
7. Replacement of roofs on Transit buildings.
8. Purchase of wrecker for buses to replace old 1946 wrecker.
9. Purchase of one Detroit diesel engine and transmission assembly.
10. Purchase of one differential unit.
11. Purchase of one 3/4 ton pickup truck to replace old 1964 1/2 ton pickup truck.
12. Purchase of four sedans to replace four old 1963, 1965 and 1966 sedans.

II. All buses are for use by the Tacoma Transit System within its service area. All other items are also for the use of the Tacoma Transit System.

III. The project is estimated to cost $2,452,822. A Federal grant under Section 3 and Section 5 of the Urban Mass Transportation Act of 1964, as amended, for 80% of the project cost, or $1,962,257, is being requested. The remaining $490,565 will be financed out of the City General Fund and/or the Motor Vehicle Excise Tax.

B. Relocation

No persons, families or businesses will be displaced by this project.

C. Environment

This project will not have a significant adverse environmental impact upon the urban area.

D. Comprehensive Planning

This project is in conformance with comprehensive land use and transportation planning in the area and has been submitted to the Puget Sound Council of Governments and the State Office of Community Development for review.

E. Elderly and Handicapped

The 33 buses will be equipped with the "kneeling" capability. This will assist elderly and handicapped persons, as the door side of the bus can then be lowered at bus stops without curbs. Improvements to the air-assisted rear door opener will also be included as an aid to the elderly and handicapped. This improvement will hold the door in an open position until closed by the bus operator.

Two buses especially equipped for the handicapped are also included but may be amended depending on decisions made after the current Federally funded technical study of the transportation needs of the elderly and the handicapped has been completed.

At the hearing, the City of Tacoma will afford an opportunity for interested persons or agencies to be heard with respect to the social, economic and environmental aspects of the project. Interested persons may submit oral or written evidence and recommendations with respect to said project.

A copy of the application for a Federal grant for the proposed project, together with an environmental analysis and the transportation improvement program for the area, will be available for public inspection at the Office of the City Clerk on the Third Floor of the County-City Building, beginning December 10, 1976.
